Using new endodontic and restorative technologies to treat even the most-challenging cases.

Learning objectives:

- Gain further understanding of the principles and workflow of endodontic therapy and learn a systematic approach for instrumentation and obturation for minimally invasive treatment.
- Review of the principles and techniques for successfully restoring endodontically treated teeth.
- Explore the latest advancements in endodontics and adhesive dentistry to enhance the predictability and precision of treating and restoring endodontically involved teeth.
- Hands-on experience

About the speaker

Dr. Matthew R. Miller is a nationally and internationally recognized lecturer and key opinion leader in dentistry. He has written multiple publications and white papers on the subjects of endodontics and restorative materials and techniques. He earned his undergraduate degree from the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill in 2003 and his Doctorate of Dental Surgery with High Distinction from New York University College of Dentistry in 2007. While at NYU, he was also selected into the Honors Aesthetics Program, winning awards such as the American Academy of Aesthetic Dentistry Award and Northeastern Society of Periodontics Award. Dr. Miller serves on the Kerr Endodontic and Restorative Advisory Boards, and is a clinical ambassador and Editorial Advisory Board member for The Dental Advisor. Additionally, he is a restorative advisor for the local chapter of the Seattle Study Club, and has been a multi-year recipient of "Top 50 Dentists" in the Charlotte metro area. Dr. Miller maintains a private group practice in Huntersville, N.C., focusing on cosmetic and complex reconstructive dentistry.
